The annual Tuberculosis Seal Sale for Ulster county will begin on Monday, November 28. On that day almost every family in Ulster county will receive a letter giving an opportunity to purchase the seals enclosed.

This work is made possible through the annual sale of Christmas seals. Buy them and help to continue this work in Ulster county. The Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health announces that there will be a Christmas Seal talk, through the courtesy of WGY, Schenectady, at 7:30 p. m., tonight. ## Thieves Steal Governor's Coat Albany, Nov. 25 (AP)—Sneak thieves invaded the executive mansion yesterday and stole three coats, one of which belonged to Governor Smith and two to Alfred E. Smith, Jr.

Police Lieut. James H. Meehan was walking down Madison avenue, when he met two men carrying a heavy ulster, a raccoon coat and a dress coat.

"Where did you get those nice coats?" asked the officer.

"A man just gave them to us, one of the men answered.

"This is Thanksgiving, isn't it?" Lieut. Meehan said, as he invited them to accompany him to the police station.

The men, who said they were Raymond Dyer of Hoboken, N. J., and David Lewis of Nova Scotia, finally told the officer they had taken the coats from a "big house on Eagle street."

The governor's name was found in the dress coat. Alfred E. Jr. identified the others as belonging to him. The younger Smith refused to press a charge of burglary, and the thieves were held as vagrants.

Tug Harry Sunk On Bar at Alsen

Cornell Line Tug Ran Aground on Sand Bar in Hudson River and Turned Over on Its Side—Will Be Raised by Wrecking Company.

The tug Harry of the Cornell Line ran aground on a sand bar in the Hudson river at Alsen about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and as the tide receded turned over on her side. All of the crew got ashore safely and it is not thought that the tug was badly damaged although the services of a wrecking crew are necessary to raise her.

From what could be learned the tug ran onto the sand bar at high tide, and as the tide began falling the high wind that was blowing turned the tug over on its side. The Merritt, Chapman and Scott Company of New York city was notified and sent one of its dredges to the scene and it was expected that the work of raising the tug would be started today.

St. Paul Church Now Being Built On Hasbrouck Av.

New Edifice Will Seat 450 in Auditorium—Church to Be of Gothic Style of Architecture and Built of Brick and Limestone.

Kingston's newest church edifice is now under course of construction on Hasbrouck avenue near East Chester street, and already the foundation and the first floor timbers have been laid. The church is the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, which was recently organized, and the architect who drew the plans for the church is Thomas P. Rice of this city. The contract for the masonry work was awarded to William McCullough, while the carpentry contract was awarded to Lyman T. Schoonmaker.

The congregation was organized about a year ago and recently extended a call to the Rev. Carl Rosmer to become its first pastor. He accepted the call and has been serving as pastor of the congregation for several months. The congregation has been growing so rapidly in numbers that it was decided to erect a church.

Mr. Rice was engaged as the architect and his plans approved. The new church will be built of brick and limestone and will be 35 by 80 feet in size while the church auditorium will comfortably seat 450. The Sunday school room is 36 by 50 feet. The front of the church will be pressed brick and limestone. The Gothic style of architecture has been adopted with much success by Mr. Rice in the present building and it will prove a decided addition to the many beautiful churches the city already has.

The steel to be used in the construction of the edifice arrived today.

Plans to Settle Colorado Strike

Denver, Nov. 25 (AP)—Negotiations to settle the Colorado coal strike today occupied state officials and miners' leaders.

With the exception of seven shots fired from an automobile near a mine in southern Colorado, Thanksgiving Day passed without incident. Miners generally occupied themselves with memorial meetings for the five workers killed in a skirmish with state police in northern Colorado Monday, and with circulation of petitions asking Governor W. F. Adams to call a meeting of operators and employees.

With petitions for a conference with operators signed by thousands of miners in his possession, Governor Adams announced that he would personally notify the mine owners of plans to effect a settlement of the wage controversy. He intimated that if such a plan failed, he would order the state industrial commission to investigate the walk-out called October 18 by I. W. W.

Shanleys Hurt as Auto Goes in Creek

James D. Shanley and party narrowly escaped tragedy about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, when the Studebaker sedan in which they were returning from Kingston suddenly left the concrete bridge at Accord and plunged head-first down the bank to land on its side in the creek below, says the Ellenville Journal.

All of the party sustained slight cuts and bruises. Mrs. J. D. Deyer, wife of the editor of the New York World, was most severely injured, but is not in a dangerous condition. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shanley sustained severe bruises, as did Mrs. George W. McCarthy, the fourth member of the party. The Studebaker was almost irreparably damaged.

The Ferguson-Cadillac-LaSalle Company, Inc., local agents for the Cadillac and LaSalle automobiles, will occupy the show rooms at the southern side of the building. The apartments will be modern in every respect. Gerard W. Betz is the architect in charge.

Union Services At High School

Thanksgiving Day Observed by City Churches At High School Auditorium, Where Sermon Was Preached by the Rev. William Poyntell Kemper.

In spite of the storm there was a good attendance at the union Thanksgiving service of the city churches, held at the Kingston High School on Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Kingston Boy Scouts acted as very courteous ushers. The clergy present on the platform were the Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley, pastor of St. James M. E. Church; the Rev. Dr. Frank R. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church; the Rev. W. F. Stowe, pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter; the Rev. William Poyntell Kemper, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church; the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church; the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church; the Rev. Charles B. Smith, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

The Rev. W. F. Stowe presided at the service which was opened with the singing of the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." W. Whit Fredericks, organist of the First Reformed Dutch Church, presiding at the piano throughout the entire service.

The scripture reading was by Dr. Seeley, who chose the fifth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, beginning with the 17th verse (modern edition), a reading most appropriate to the day.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Cole, after which "America" was sung by all present.

President Coolidge's Thanksgiving message was read by the Rev. Mr. Tetley.

Mr. Stowe made a special plea for as generous an offering as possible for the Industrial Home, to which institution the Thanksgiving offerings of the union services in Kingston have been given for years. While the Boy Scouts took up the offering Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks, soprano soloist at the Fair Street Reformed Church, sang beautifully, "Blessings" by Curran.

Sermon by Rector Kemper.

In introducing the preacher for the morning, Mr. Stowe said that at its last meeting the Kingston Ministerial Association had chosen its youngest member to deliver the Thanksgiving Day message, and they were very glad to present the Rev. William Poyntell Kemper, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, who would speak on "The Foundations of our Gratitude."

Mr. Kemper took as his text the 37th verse of the nineteenth chapter of the Second Book of Samuel, "That I may die in mine own city and be buried by the grave of my father and mother," a strange Thanksgiving Day text, seemingly, until in the unfolding of the sermon it was made plain that true loyalty to country was the form of gratitude Rector Kemper wished to emphasize.

Mr. Kemper spoke of the wistfulness of the words that held the human touch today as they did four thousand years ago, and reminded his hearers that after all our national Thanksgiving Day is a day of remembrance. Our appreciation of "America, the Beautiful" today must include a full thankfulness for the lives given for our country in the spilled blood of our boys. The preacher feared that in our very prosperity of today for which we are so ready to give thanks there lurks danger of our forgetting God. He mentioned three potential influences that are the foundation stones for our thanksgiving of today. They were: the Bible, a profound sense of duty; Sunday, as known and observed in America.

Making America Better.

True loyalty to our native land, Mr. Kemper considered the setting forth of such ideas and ideals as shall make of America a more glorious and better land. The ideals of the home, spelled with capitals, were emphasized, the chastity of womanhood, one man for one woman; the leadership of the kindly husband; the house, made and kept; the loving, mother bearing, nourishing, teaching the best things to sons and daughters; discipline and right order; affection, one to another.

The preacher used another word to awake enthusiasm and square one's shoulders, making us like soldiers—"Liberty." We must learn to have the power to discern those blended conditions of true freedom that can harmonize independent rights and corporate responsibilities. Mr. Kemper warned of the necessity of finding some way in America, this land of the free, whereby there shall be such an adjustment so that the individual shall not suffer because of the corporate life of the many. He considered it a high time that we demand that our politicians be men we can honor and trust, not mere office seekers who use the government for their own ambitious ends.

The preservation of Christianity in our land is a part of the same great problem of maintaining the true foundations of America. There can be no true education apart from Jesus Christ, without prayer, faith and morals.

The preacher pronounced a severe indictment against the womanhood of our land, 25 million strong, because only 24 per cent of the women had used the sacred ballot, now a grave responsibility, whether or not women had wished to assume such a responsibility.

One More Thing Needed.

In closing Mr. Kemper said that there was one more thing that our land so greatly needs, and he would mention that need in sincere reverence and awe. It was Almighty God.

Move to Save Snyder and Gray

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—A decision to appeal to the United States district court in an effort to get the case of Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray before the highest tribunal in the nation has been announced by counsel for the couple as the first step in their last legal battle to save the killers of the woman's husband from the chair.

Failure of their efforts in the federal courts will mean the pair must rely on the clemency of Governor Alfred E. Smith, who is usually guided by the unanimous decisions of the court of appeals. This court earlier in the week unanimously denied the Snyder-Gray petition for a new trial and ordered the couple executed the week of January 9.

Samuel L. Miller, Gray's attorney, said he would enter district court next week to ask a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the joint trial in which Mrs. Snyder and Gray were convicted for the murder of Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, violated Gray's constitutional rights.

Mrs. Snyder's attorney, Joseph L. Landon, after a conference with the condemned woman, declared he would carry the fight further in the courts.

It was intimated that if Gray is successful in bringing his case before the Supreme court, Mrs. Snyder's counsel may follow a similar procedure.

Liner Mexico Heads for Harbor

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—The Ward liner Mexico, which struck a shoal a mile and a half from the harbor entrance at Vera Cruz, Mexico, early today, was clear and headed for the harbor under her own power. Ward line officials told the Associated Press.

Radio advices from Captain McInnes, master of the vessel, said that the Mexico, out of New York for Tampico, grounded on a reef, slightly damaging her bow, but was delayed only a short time.

The vessel sailed from New York November 17, touching at Havana, where most of the first class passengers left the ship. About 34 first class passengers were still aboard today. They included Frank Sherman, Jamestown, N. Y.

Four Men Rescued

Port Colborne, Ont., Nov. 25 (AP)—Four men of Erie, Pa., were rescued far out in Lake Erie yesterday by the steamer Nathlet, when a Port Matland boat, the Mildred, sank as she was being towed by the steamer. The crew was turned over to the United States coast guard, as they had a load of liquor on their boat en route to an American port, the coast guard claim.

Two Negroes Hanged.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 25 (AP)—Nathan Bard and Bunyan Fleming, negroes convicted of an attack on a white girl, were hanged in the court yard at Hopkins county jail here today. Several thousand spectators crowded around the jail while the executions were being carried out.

Remus's Sister Called.

Cincinnati, Nov. 25 (AP)—George Remus's sister, Mrs. Gabriel Ryerson, of Plattville, Mich., was called to testify against him today in his trial for murder for slaying his wife.

We need Him, not only in our homes but in our liberty. We, His children, need a firm belief in God, our personal Father. In proportion as our belief in Almighty God has been found strong. Today, Jesus Christ, the only Saviour of mankind who came into the world in human flesh, is indeed Promethian bound, and He needs our help, our wills, our love, our service, willing up in our hearts, making us co-laborers with Him so that His world may be made Christ-like. Only so will America be safe to hold that first place among nations that God has given her.

After the singing of the Doxology, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Charles B. Smith, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

"Do Not Choose" Means "Will Not"

According to Poll of Opinions of Vermont and Massachusetts Men on the President's Famous Announcement.

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—Calvin Coolidge's "I do not choose" in the language of New England means "I will not," it was indicated today in statement of John Barrett, president of the National Vermont Association, who polled the opinions of 70 Vermont and Massachusetts men on the President's now famous announcement.

When the President said "I do not choose to be a candidate for president in 1928" he meant unreservedly "I will not be a candidate," said Barrett, announcing the result of his poll, which he said he made at the suggestion of members of his association.

The 70 opinions were received from one hundred men and women carefully selected for contributing of Vermont and New England colloquialisms and of President Coolidge's personality, character, and habits of speech," Barrett said.

The opinions of the 70 were summarized, Barrett said, and they have all agreed upon the following report:

"The common, long established and accepted significance of the phrase 'I do not choose to do this or that' has always been, according to our memory, experience and study of Vermont and New England phraseology and colloquialisms, a polite but firm and final form of saying 'I will not do this or that'."

"The former phrase has even a stronger significance of personal attitude than the latter because it represents a finality of judgment and choice while the latter might signify impolitic, abrupt, and all considered refusal, which might, in turn be subjected to reversal on further thought."

Three Killed in Shooting Affray

Painesville, Ohio, Nov. 25 (AP)—Peter McCrory, 47, Fred Cook, 23, and Alex Cook, 26, are dead, and Arthur McCrory, 19, son of Peter McCrory, is in a hospital with a bullet wound in the arm as a result of a shooting affray here today, said by authorities to have been the outgrowth of domestic difficulties involving the elder McCrory.

Police declared Peter McCrory turned a revolver on the two Cooks, his stepsons, when they intervened after he had gone to his estranged wife's home and demanded that she talk to him. Both were killed instantly.

Arthur McCrory next sought to slay his father and received a bullet in the arm.

The elder McCrory, the police declared, then shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

The shooting occurred in the presence of Mrs. McCrory, a divorcee action, which she filed recently, was declared to have precipitated the shooting.

Prison Mutiny Ends With Loss Of Eleven Lives

Convicts Lay Down Their Guns and Release Four Guards They Held as Hostages.

Folsom Prison, Cal., Nov. 25 (AP)—One of the most spectacular prison rebellions in the history of California came to a peaceful end here at 7:30 a. m. today when several hundred convicts who yesterday barricaded themselves in a cell house and fought national guardsmen and civil officers in a pitched battle that resulted in the loss of eleven lives.

The revolting convicts laid down the guns with which they had stood off a besieging force of more than 500 men and released the four guards they had held as hostages.

One guard was killed on the spot, three others were wounded, one managed to get out and four of those in the cell house were held as hostages. The four guards were among the barricaded convicts early today but were believed to be alive, although their position among the rioters was regarded as hazardous.

The fighting convicts were believed to have started the break in an effort to swarm out of the old cell house and escape through an under wall side of the prison area. Warden Court Smith, who was trapped in his office when the siege began, his retreat cut off by snipers among the convict horde, took command of the situation by telephone and moved all available guards to the unvalued portion of the prison. All available policemen from Sacramento, 25 miles distant, were called, and national guardsmen were rushed to the scene.

Battle Begins

Late in the afternoon armed officers attacked the beleaguered convicts but were repulsed when one of their number was wounded. Some 200 rounds were fired, the imprisoned men replying with an unknown number of guns which they had mysteriously acquired.

The convicts refused to consider a surrender at that time, although later notes were thrown from cell windows saying their ammunition was running low.

When twilight fell, Warden Smith escaped from his office without being fired upon. Governor C. C. Young arrived from Sacramento and aided in directing the siege last night. More national guardsmen, together with machine guns, airplanes, tanks, and gas bombs and other instruments of modern warfare, were ordered from Los Angeles, and other points.

Convicts Accept Terms.

Terms of Warden Smith were accepted by the convicts after their leader had been informed of plans for flooding the cellhouse and in suggesting a campaign of starvation as possible measures to prevent further violence.

The spokesman, whose name was not revealed, pleaded for leniency for the rebellious convicts but Warden Smith refused. The convicts then inquired what food would be given those who might be put into solitary confinement as the result of the outbreak. Upon being assured that prisoners so punished would be given one meal a day the rebels capitulated.

The four guards who had been held as hostages emerged from the beleaguered cell house laden with weapons, including two pistols, a number of knives and an axe, which the convicts surrendered.

Smith then announced he would enter the cell house, which housed more than 1,200 convicts. Previously he had expressed the belief that not all the 1,200 men had been involved in the uprising.

Meanwhile, national guardsmen equipped with machine guns, tanks, sawed off shotguns and tear bombs, stood by. The 200 armed civil officers aided in patrolling the prison grounds while the process of surrendering went ahead.

Prison For Bad Men

Folsom prison is the state's penitentiary for "bad men"—those who are serving second terms and upward and those who have been given life sentences.

The warden declared no concessions were made to the convicts except that he had assured them of safe conduct to their respective cells. He expressed the belief that the weapons used in the outbreak had been smuggled in through "trusties."

Had it not been for these weapons in the hands of a few desperate men who intimidated the rest, the revolt would have been quelled soon after the first rioting occurred, the warden declared.

District Attorney Neil R. McAllister and Deputy District Attorney Horace Frye questioned the convicts. Seven of the prisoners called before Warden Smith agreed to assume complete responsibility. All the prisoners were moved into their cells after they surrendered.

The revolt is believed by prison authorities to have been planned for some time and have been intended to lead to a general delivery.

RECALLS STORY OF ODD WRECK

U. S. Warship, Caught by Tidal Wave, Stranded on Mountain.

Washington.—Navy historians were called upon recently to decide the strangest marine disaster that ever occurred to an American vessel. With our dissemination they agreed on the wreck of the U. S. S. Wateree. Details of the disaster are known to but few and none of the boldest tale-telling old salts can refer to it as knowledge of personal experience.

So far as is known, no one alive today witnessed the man-of-war picked up bodily off the Chilean coast by a tidal wave and deposited high on the side of a mountain two miles inland. On the Navy department records are inscribed a few words, which tell of the strangest of strange marine disasters.

Visit Scene of Wreck.

The recent visit to Chile of the U. S. S. Rochester, flagship of the special service squadron on duty with the American commission to the Tacna-Arica plebiscite, uncovered the old chapter of naval history. Members of the Rochester crew visited the scene of the wreck where the boilers and stem are still to be seen.

In the summer of 1888 the Wateree arrived off Arica from Callao with the store ship Fredonia in tow. Both ships had fled from Callao to escape the yellow fever plague. With a Peruvian man-of-war, the Wateree and the Fredonia anchored in the harbor about a mile from shore.

On August 13, the Wateree was engaged in overhauling her engines when the ship trembled from stem to stern. The crew ran to the decks. The bay was untroubled, but a cloud of dust and smoke was rising from the town. The amazed sailors saw the smoke lift and reveal scarcely a house or a building left standing.

A boat crew immediately started for shore, and as they reached the water's edge, tidal currents swirled in and twisted the Wateree free from her anchor chains. Daylight turned to darkness and the Wateree was lifted as if by a giant hand.

The Wateree started moving toward land. Sandy water and foam swirled over her decks, and a minute later she emerged, three miles up the coast and two miles inland. The Wateree was resting on an even keel against the side of a mountain with her port anchor and 100 fathoms of chain laid out intact.

Only One Man Lost.

Out of 225 men on board the Wateree, only one was lost. An inspection the next day revealed that the tidal wave carried water to a height of 47 feet on the mountainside, 200 feet from the ship.

The Fredonia was crushed on the beach, with a loss of all hands on board. The Peruvian man-of-war was caught by the currents and driven far out to sea.

It was impossible to salvage the Wateree, so her equipment was removed and her hull sold. Part of her guns were purchased by the Peruvian government and later used against the Chileans.

Today, only the boilers and stem remain as mute evidence of a disaster so strange that, except for the naval records, its occurrence might be doubted.

Ireland Was Abode of "Stone Age" Mankind

London.—Evidence that Stone age man lived in Ireland, hitherto lacking, is now supplied by J. P. T. Burchell of this city. Mr. Burchell has discovered a rock shelter typical of the Monsterial period, when Neanderthal man roamed Europe, on the Sligo coast, and beneath it and along the beach he has found large quantities of the roughly flaked flint implements which these ancient savages made. No bones have been turned up as yet, but the quantity of tools and weapons leave no doubt that some one was in Ireland to make them.

Like other sites of the same culture, this shelter was inhabited during an interlude between two advances of the ice of the most recent glacial epoch. Evidence on this point is cited by Mr. Burchell in two forms: The layer in which the implements are found is buried under 35 feet of bowlder-filled clay, such as glacier deposit; and one of the largest of the stone implements is scarred with glacial striae or scratches, indicating it was caught under a glacier and scraped over other rocks.

The finds have been examined by J. Reid Moir, one of the foremost of British authorities on the Stone age, who pronounces them authentic. A complete technical report will probably be published in the near future.

In Washington Violent Speech Is Misdemeanor

Washington.—Profanity is a misdemeanor—even in the heat of an athletic contest—according to the capital's vigilant police force.

Two park police waited until the end of a soccer game on the monument grounds one afternoon and then arrested Robert Hall, goal keeper for the Mariboro team. They said Hall's exclamations during the game were profane enough and loud enough to shock the sensitive ears of the spectators.

It cost Hall's friends $10 to get him out of the clutches of the law.

TOMB OF GENGHIS KHAN IS FOUND IN SECRET CAVE

Seven Silent Lamas, Writes Explorer, Keep Watch at Coffin in Central Asia.

London.—The Russian explorer, Prof. Peter Kozloff, says the Sunday Express, has solved darkest Asia's greatest archeological mystery by the discovery of the tomb of Genghis Khan (Jenghiz Khan), Mongolian conqueror, 700 years after his death, near the ruins of the dead city of Kharakhoto, in the Gobi desert.

Professor Kozloff has devoted 20 years to the search. He found the great khan's remains in a silver coffin resting on the crowns of 78 princes and khans whom he had conquered. The secret wonders of the conqueror's tomb, says the Express, vie with those of Tut-Ankh-Amen. Seven silent lamas guard the secret place and every seven hours one of them strikes seven times on a huge jade bell hanging above the sarcophagus.

For seven centuries the priests have preserved the mystery. Jewel-studded weapons of Genghis Khan and his own story of his reign, a life-size lion, tiger and horse in pinkadee and a copy of the Bible written by an English monk, also were in the tomb.

Professor Kozloff also visited the tomb of the Genghis' favored wife, the inscription on whose white marble coffin sets forth that "the great khan released her by placing his dagger in her breast."

The tomb lies beyond the labyrinth of passages cut into the mountain side. It is a spacious hall, about 40 feet square, the whole carefully preserved. Once each year certain privileged Mongols and the khan's descendants repair thither to make sacrifice to his memory.

Once a year, Professor Kozloff was assured, on the anniversary of the khan's death his ghost arises and blows out the lamps, leads the chief of the guardian lamas to the huge black slab at the rear of the shrine and writes with the accompanying priest's hand prophecies for the coming year.

COURTEOUS SERVICE

Australia Has Sea Serpent
The most extraordinary testimony of the existence today of the sea serpent comes from Australia.

Farmers living amid the swamps have been perplexed at the frequent disappearance of their cattle. They thought thieves took the animals and bore them away by boat, but there were no tracks of men or horses—only a curious wide furrow leading to the beach.

One night a boy was awakened by the dogs and, calling some farmhands, rushed out with his gun. He was amazed to see "a great dark object resembling a huge snake, traveling across fences and paddocks at a terrific rate. Its head was held high in the air, and in its mouth was a struggling calf."

The wide trail was followed to the beach, and the monster was seen to plunge into the sea.

Students do not get all their dates from history.

UNIQUE COINS IN THIS COLLECTION

One of the most valuable collections of old United States coins of every denomination is owned by H. DeLong, of No. 314 South Twelfth street, Philadelphia.

Mr. DeLong has been collecting old coins and paper currency since his childhood days. He is now sixty-one years old. In a gold frame he has a collection that he values at $1,000. The redeemable value of the framed currency in an American bank would be approximately $62.

One of the most unique coins in the collection is a brass, undated cent. On one side of the cent is engraved a bust of Washington. On the other side is inscribed "Success to the United States."

POETIC IDEA BORN IN CHILDISH MIND

Richard Le Gallienne, poet, was talking about poets at a reception: "Poets are children," he said. "I have known all the great poets of our time, and they were all simple-minded, unaffected, childlike. Yes, poets are children, and children are poets."

"One summer I visited an encampment of little country weavers—stunt children who were enjoying a week-end holiday in the country. It was evening, the new moon was setting, and a small country weaver said as he gazed at the western sky:

"I wonder what becomes of all the old moons?"

"I guess," said another weaver, who stood beside him, "I guess they cut 'em up for stars, Bill."

Credit to Motorists?

The automobile has been responsible for the development of a sturdier and incidentally a smarter race of roosters and chickens, according to Richard C. Haldeman, president of the Pennsylvania Motor federation. Haldeman asserts that the large number of chickens killed on the roads during the early days of the automobile age weeded out "mentally unfit roosters and hens." He asserts that instead of being blamed for the chickens which are still killed the motorists

The Brother-in-Law's Way

"My oldest boy, Conrad, took a fool notion rather day, went over to Torpelling, picked up a gal and married her" in the crossroads store related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Tears like he picked up a brother-in-law at the same time."

"Did the brother-in-law follow him?" inquired the merchant.

"Nope. That was three or four days ago. The darn brother-in-law came right on over to our house and is a-eatin' on us yet."—Kansas City Star.

Finest Lines

Twenty-five thousand lines to the inch—could you draw them? No human being has been able to do such fine work, but Dr. Wilmer Souder, physicist at the United States bureau of standards, has devised a machine that will draw these fine lines. It will be of great assistance in many phases of engineering design.

Watch Long in Concrete

Blasting out some old concrete for a new bridge, C. H. Lightner, Iola, Kan., discovered a watch that used to make the dollar famous imbedded in it. The crystal was broken and the face disfigured, but on winding it the watch went right on ticking. The concrete was laid twelve years ago.—Indianapolis News.

IN DESPAIR OVER PIMPLY, RED SKIN ITCHED AND BURNED— UGLY TO LOOK AT

Healed at last, quickly and easily

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 21:—"I have been a sufferer from a most unsightly skin disorder, my face being full of pimples and blackheads and my complexion was very muddy. It was very ugly to look at as it was red and fiery and it annoyed me by itching and burning. I tried many treatments, but got no relief. When I was a small baby I had eczema on my body and my mother used Resinol Ointment on it and she recommended it to me at this time. In desperation I decided to send for a sample of Resinol. After using the sample I bought more Resinol as I was convinced it was a splendid remedy. After I had applied it four times, the pimples began to heal and at the end of two weeks they had entirely disappeared. Now, I have such confidence in Resinol Ointment I would not be without it." ## Firemen Await Wage Decision Federal Arbitration Board Has Under Consideration the Request of Fifty-five Western Railroad System Firemen for $1 a Day Wage Increase.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (AP)—Thirty thousand firemen on western railroads await an arbitration board decision to see whether their pay checks will be increased by $1 a day. After the 55 systems comprising the Association of Western Railroads had refused the request of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen for the increase, the plea went to a federal arbitration board which completed a hearing in Chicago November 11. A decision is expected for November 23, when the board reassembles at Denver. Both sides cited changed economic conditions in presenting their arguments. The roads claimed the firemen were adequately paid and that their pay rolls annually the $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 necessary to meet the increase asked. Shrinking agricultural markets and rising overhead costs officials of the carriers asserted, have combined to make it difficult to keep large transportation systems earning a fair return on the capital investment. A number of firemen testified that promotion to engineer was slow and their wages insufficient to maintain the accepted standard of living. They contended that heavier engines made heavier trains and fewer of them, reducing the number of engineers required and therefore the number of possibilities for promotion. Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the union, assailed statements of the earnings and investments submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the roads. He declared the final value placed on the fifty-five roads by the Interstate Commerce Commission was some $2,000,000,000 less than the value offered by the roads. It was argued by the carriers' officials that the west cannot bear increased rail rates, which they said, must inevitably follow if the firemen are given more money. The average yearly wage of firemen on western lines was shown as $2,200. Figures of the firemen tended to show their yearly earnings to average less than $2,000.

East Indians Happy

Under Feminist Rule

Among the Khasis, a hill tribe in Assam, northeastern India, the matriarchal system is still in force. Property belongs to the women; anything a man earns before marriage belongs to his mother, and after marriage to his wife.

The men are extremely jolly, says Basil Allen, late of the Indian civil service; the women, despite their privileged position, have lost some of their charm, and are no more logical or masculine than their sisters in less feminist countries. They wear a multitude of clothes, unlike their neighbors, the Garos, who wear extraordinarily little. A woman's dress is about twelve inches long, a man's is even less. Mr. Allen says that persons who are shocked at the scantiness of modern female dress should note that in the Assam hills "the more clothes you wear the naughtier you are."

Several thousands of Assam hillmen went to France in labor corps, and those who returned told their fellows something of the war—"and what a curious war it was! How men would be gathered together and a box would arrive, and when the box was opened men died." That was the Mikir's description of a bursting shell.

Concerning Love and Things of That Kind

"Most of the troubles men suffer from consist in being loved too well by the wrong woman and not being loved well enough by the right one."

"The man who makes a good lover is the man who loves women first and a woman afterwards. Every woman should learn this vital fact and never forget it. . . . From the general to the particular is the rule in love. To know how to love one woman you must love all women, or the idea of woman, which is the same thing."

"If you want to lose your wife there's two ways to do it. One way is to take her where there's nothing to spend money on, no matter whether it's in the United States of America or in some hick town in Patagonia. And the other way is to take her somewhere where things are better, than she's used to, and where she'll get ideas in her head. Before you know where you are she's too good for her own country or her own town, and you can't get her home again. If you want to keep your wife, keep her where you found her and make out that she's better than her neighbors."—From "Now East, Now West," by Susan Arta.

Man is the only religious animal, which may account for his being the meanest.

Too Full for Utterance.

When the last piece of pie has departed, And the cake becomes crumbly and dry, And the nuts in the pantry are fewer, And the pickle jar measures less high;

When each vestige of turkey is eaten, And the bones are put on to boil, And the living turkeys feel safer, And we dope up with castor oil,

There's a pause in the business of gorging, Till another year is done, And we know from our extended waistlines, That Thanksgiving's come and gone.

He (after the theatre): "Helen, do you know the difference between a taxicab and a street-car?" She: "No, I don't."

He: "Well, then we'll take the street-car."

Customer—"I've brought that last pair of trousers to be resented. You know I sit a lot."

Tailor: "Yes, and perhaps you've brought the bill to be receipted, too. You know, I've stood a lot."

"Do I need a neck shave?" "No, but your face needs a haircut."

Quack Medicine Vender: "Sir, I might mention as a slight testimonial to this world-famed 'Rejuvenator' that, a year ago, after taking one small dose overnight, upon awaking in the morning, I said to my wife, 'Mother, give me my satchel—I shall be late for school!'"

Es: Why do bouillon cups have two handles? Telle: So you can rest both elbows on the table.

Curious Alloys

In these days chemistry is enabling man to make over some of the most useful metals very much at his will and greatly to his profit. In England interesting reports have been made on the properties of alloys of copper, aluminum and manganese, which show remarkable peculiarities. An alloy of 88 per cent copper, 9.9 per cent aluminum and 2.01 per cent manganese showed enormous tensile strength, a cold-drawn bar having a yield point of 40,883 tons per square inch and an ultimate stress of 52,095 tons per square inch. Another alloy is so hard that it can take a cutting edge sharp enough to sharpen a lead pencil. The British admiralty has been experimenting with these alloys in order to determine their resistance to corrosion in sea water.

Leaders Too Strenuous

A popular musical composer recently incurred popular censure in Madrid for beating time with his hands alone instead of using a baton, when conducting a revue of his own composition at the Esclava theater. This incident recalls to the Epoca de Madrid the tragic fate of Lull, a celebrated composer. It is related that while conducting a Te Deum in the chapel at Versailles as a thanksgiving for the recovery of Louis XIV he struck himself a blow with his baton, as a result of which gangrene set in, causing his death.

Dogs Almost Equal Sheep

State Law to License Dogs Was Intended to Encourage Sheep Industry, But Dogs Increase Faster Than Sheep.

In the last six years the number of dogs in New York state, outside of New York city, has nearly doubled, according to the census reports submitted to the Department of Agriculture and Markets, despite the fact that since 1917 it has been required by law that all canines be licensed by the department with a license fee for each. This law was primarily enacted for the encouragement of the sheep industry, but the records in the department show that there are almost as many dogs as sheep in the state.

The Department stated that in 1922, 253,572 dogs were listed in the census which is taken under the provisions of the law, while for the year beginning July 1, 1927, 415,465 dogs were listed in the state outside of New York city.

The number of dogs for which licenses were issued in 1922 was 252,421 and for the year ending June 30, 1927, the number licensed was 365,687.

When the law was enacted it was assumed that possibly the number of dogs would decrease when owners were required to pay license fees of $2 for each male and $1 for each female dog, but according to the census the number is increasing annually.

total number licensed in the state outside of New York city 198,397 dogs are in cities, the remainder 255,160 being in rural sections. About 162,469 dogs are licensed in New York city by the municipal authorities.

Better Breed of Dogs. It is evident also, the inspectors point out, that there is a demand for better breeds of dogs, shown by an increase in the number of kennel licenses. In 1921 licenses were obtained for 345 kennels, with a total of 2,531 dogs; in 1926, 1,567 kennels were licensed, with a total of 9,254 dogs.

In the passage of the law for the licensing of dogs it was assumed that many stray dogs would be eliminated since license fees would not be paid for them, and that the sheep industry, which has been going backward for the last sixty years, would be greatly benefited. While the law has been enforced for nearly ten years, the increase in the number of sheep in New York state has not been as great as was anticipated by those urging the enactment of the law.

In 1922 there were about 590,000 sheep on farms in New York state, and it is estimated now that there has been an increase in this number, although it is not great. It is stated that a considerable number of sheep have been brought into this state and that many farmers have not killed lambs, which brings the total up to possibly more than 600,000. A liberal estimate is 550,000. This is not the increase which was expected when the law for the licensing of dogs was placed on the statute books.

1840—6,000,000 Sheep. In 1825 sheep to the number of about three and one-half millions were on farms in New York state. In 1835 this had increased to about four and one-half millions, and in 1840 the number was a little more than five millions. The high mark was reached in 1845 when New York state was credited with 6,440,555 sheep. In 1859 there was a heavy drop and again in 1860. In 1865 the number went up to 5,500,000, but in 1870 dropped to about half this number. In 1900 sheep of all ages on New York state farms numbered 1,745,746 and in 1910 about 900,000. Since that time the number has remained at approximately 500,000.

Commissioner Pyrke has pointed out that the climate of New York is favorable for sheep raising and that there is much land available at reasonable prices which is suitable for sheep. Improved methods of marketing, he has stated, along with information available in the department on the care of sheep, and the advantage provided by the licensing of dogs, should give encouragement to this industry.

Advises All Catarrh Victims to Throw Away Stomach Medicines, End Loathsome Catarrh with Kapex and Get Rid of Disgusting Mucus Forever.

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling and inflammation with mucus discharges.

But Kapex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Kapex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Kapex puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out of the other.

When you use Kapex you see this healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming through the nostril—and it will come through no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

Winter Camping In Harriman Park

Organizations Will Make Use of Cabins and Other Facilities Provided by State During Season of Ice and Snow.

This winter will see the same continued increase in the number of group camps in the Harriman State Park, which are using the cabins and other facilities provided by the Commissioners of the Palisades Interstate Park, for enjoyment of the season of snow and ice, which, to these out of door folks, has charm quite as compelling as those of summer. On every one of the lakes which are the centers of a hundred camping groups in summer, several of the same groups will use their buildings, some of which are winter-proofed, for parties on week ends and holidays, to enjoy hiking, snowshoeing, skiing, skating and tobogganing or bobsledding. This winter use of the Harriman Park has grown steadily every year, and will attain a still higher degree this season.

About Bear Mountain, headquarters of the Harriman Park, Bren-tmore Cabin, on the slope north of Hessian Lake, will entertain, from December to January, parties of Campfire Girls, of members of the Young Women's Christian Association of New York, a party of young people in whom Edwin Gould is interested, and a reunion of the nature lore school held for six seasons under the direction of Dr. William G. Vinal, now at Western Reserve University in Ohio. Other groups using the same cabin will be the Summit Club of New York, an organization of business women, in whom Miss Ruby B. Jolliffe, superintendent of the park camping department, takes a particular interest, because she helped them make a start in Summit Lake, on the park's western border; the Young Women's Christian Association of the Oranges, and the Girl Scouts of the Queens Council.

Camp Quannacot, at Queensboro Lake, will again be used this winter by the Tramp and Trail Club of New York, also by the Neighborhood Association of New York, and the Pioneer Youth Group, by the Summit Club, and by the New York University Community Service Bureau.

Nytic Camp Open All Winter.
At Lake Tiorati, a thousand feet above the Hudson in the center of the park, the New York section of the Green Mountain Club maintains its all the year around camp on the summit of Hasselclever mountain.
The New York Life Insurance Company keeps open house all winter in Camp Nylic, on the western shore.
Other groups using Tiorati for winter week ends and holidays will be the Harriman Boys' Club of New York, a group of children from the Crippled Children at Haverstraw, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Coffin; the Bowling Green Neighborhood Association at Camp Shant-tunk, on the west shore; the Tuxedo Hospital nurses in their cabin on the slope of Fingerboard Mountain, add the Passaic Young Men's Hebrew Association on the eastern shore.

On Lake Sebago, newest and largest of the ten artificial lakes in the Harriman Park, located in its southwestern corner within a few miles of Tuxedo and Slootaburg, on the main line of the Erie Railroad, this large and beautiful new body of water will come into its own for the first real winter season there, with the active enjoyment of three of the largest of the camps recently built around its shores. The New York Club will keep open house every week end and through the holidays, at its Camp Nawakwa, on one of the points on the western shore, with a program of hiking, skating, ice boating and trail making.

Other Camps Open.
On the tip of the point made by Brundage Mountain, between the two northern arms of Lake Sebago, Baker Camp, the comfortable outfit built with a gift of $100,000 by George F.
Baker, banker and philanthropist, for the staffs of four large New York financial institutions in which he is the governing figure, will continue its activities of the past summer, without cessation and the employees of these banks and trust companies who have been delighted with their new camp, so remote in appearance but so near New York, are looking forward to new delights in winter sport. On the east shore of Sebago, in the commodious new camp of the New York University School of Education, which held a school for camp and playground leaders there during the past summer, teachers and students will enjoy week end and holiday parties without interruption by the cold season.

At Lake Stahabe, on the western border of the park, Camp Gaxtry, of the New York Edison Company's Boy Scout troop, will be open all winter, as usual, as will also be Camp Jefferson, of the Broadway Tabernacle of New York.

In "No Man's Land".
In the girl campers' side of the park, in "No Man's Land", on Twin Lakes, the Queens Council, Girl Scouts, will occupy their camp for frequent winter parties, as will also the Girl Scouts of the Oranges, the Kittredge Club of business girls, of New York; Girls' League of Yonkers, and Camp Prospect of the Brooklyn
Young Women's Christian Association.

The Camp Fire Girls of America will hold parties in Camp Onika, on

Dr. Cady Tells of Near East Relief

Describes What He Saw of Work for Orphans and Peeking at Children
When They Did Not Know He Was There.

It is a source of much gratification to many Kingstonians, especially at this time Kingstonians, especially those who are endeavoring to provide funds for the care of fifty orphans for one year in Near East Relief orphanages, to know that this practical expression of the "Golden Rule" is being observed at this time throughout the entire United States.

Some Kingston people have visited those countries and seen and talked with many of these little children whom America has so kindly befriended. The Rev. Putnam Cady, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston, in a letter to one of the field workers, wrote: "It may be of some encouragement to get an impression from one not connected with your organization regarding the constructive character of your work in the Near East. Since the war I have made three trips along the Syrian coast and have visited the orphanages north and south of Beirut.
"I had expected to find the boys and girls housed, clothed and fed as well as your funds would permit, and I found every need met and in a comfortable manner."

"But the fact that did both surprise and delight me was the constructive character of the work.
"I will not go into details, interesting as they are, but let me give one or two pictures that are samples of many. Seventy-five boys making clothing and using the sewing machines with great skill. Boys making shoes, baking bread, erecting buildings. Wherever I went I found a hive of industry.

"The same things are true of the activities of the girls in their orphanages. All were so industrious and happy in their work that I thought it might be so because they knew I was looking. So I peeked in when they did not know I was about and always found the same.

"Mrs. Cady also made independent observations and found the same activity. This constructive work has greatly impressed me as it will equip these boys and girls for life.

"I might say much more, and especially about the courtesy that never failed, and their joy in greeting Americans to whom they say they owe their lives.

"If our people could only see them and hear their bands play 'America' and the 'Star Spangled Banner' they would each want to adopt half a dozen of these sweet little girls and bright eyed boys."

The local Near East Relief Committee, which consists of Judge G.
D. R. Hasbrouck, the Rev. Frank B.
Seeler, D. D., and D. N. Matthews, are pleased to advise the citizens of Kingston that of the fifty children which the city has been asked to provide for a majority of these are already taken care of but there still remain over a dozen or so for whom no provision has yet been made.

At the present time the Near East Relief is still caring for more than 20,000 orphan children who are still too young to shift for themselves. It costs $5 a month or $60 a year to feed and clothe a child. Kingston is asked to care for fifty of them.

The Rev. Frank B. Seeler, D. D., would be glad to learn of any individual or organization who would be willing to take the entire or part care of one of these orphans.

All contributions and pledges should be forwarded to D. N.
Matthews, treasurer, care of the State of New York National Bank, Kingston, N. Y.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks
the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Grid Surprises On Thanksgiving

New York, Nov. 25 (AP).—Most sensational of the surprises found in nearly every package of Thanksgiving Day football fare was the slugging 39-0 triumph of Pittsburgh over Pennsylvania State, it appeared to be.

The havoc wrought by "Gibby" Welch and his fellow stalwarts from Pittsburgh placed the Panthers in a position to dispute with Yale or any other the title of "champion" of the East and assured that they were a worthy representative in the 1928 season tournament of roses to be played with Stanford at Pasadena, Cal.

Almost as sensational as the worst beating Pittsburgh ever has given Penn State, was the 35-0 whitewash handed Cornell by its old rival, Pennsylvania, gridiron history also was made at the Polo Grounds where Columbia spilled Syracuse, 14-7, for the first time since they started playing football together in 1901. When Brown and Cogate fought to a scoreless tie, they established something of a record in that their last three meetings have produced no decision games.

Among the small college results of note was a 46-0 gallon over Dickinson for the Bucknell thundering herd, a 33-7 walloping for Rochester, at the hands of one of the best Hobart teams on record, and a 21-0 victory over Vermont for Springfield which registered an unbeaten season.

Plays One Minute— Now Captain

Richard W. Black of Pelee, Ill., has just been elected captain of the Dartmouth football team. Black is a junior. Because of an injury to his leg in the first minute of play in the Brown game, Black has been laid up all season, but won the captaincy unanimously.

Kingston Beat Troy Team, 32-25

Holiday Crowd Sees Local Metropolitan League Squad Defeat Troy Quintet In Fast Game at Armory.

Before a record breaking crowd of holiday fans, Kingston gave Troy a grand reception in the Metropolitan League at the Armory Thursday night, trimming the upstarts in their opening game by a 32-25 score. Although the Trojans threatened to turn things upside down for the Morgenwecks in the second half, Kingston managed to hold the upper hand throughout the entire struggle.

The Trojans gave their hardest fight in the second half when they persisted in keeping at the heels of Mickey Husta's warriors. When the second half started, Kingston led by four points. Directly at the start of the second half, Malone sank a deuce for Troy which was followed by a single by Marrin. Driscoll then added another double for the Trojans and followed with a single that tied the score. Up to this point the Morgenwecks had kept in front all night and it appeared as if the Kingstonians were to have a big job on their hands in attempting to turn back the Trojans.

With the time about half gone in the second half, Marrin added a deuce for Kingston and Driscoll kept the game at white-heat by coming back with another two pointer to lock up the score at 19-19.

A few minutes later the Kingstonians inaugurated a scoring campaign, dropping eight markers through the rings while the upstarts contributed but one. This little spurt put the Kingstonians a few laps ahead while they continued to hold till the end of the game, for the locals were seven points in front when the game ended.

The Metropolitan League showed evidence of being in settled state after the initial shake-up of players, for Kingston battled the Trojans with the same lineup used last week against Albany. Conaty and Knothe started up front with Herlihy at center and Marrin and Husta in the back court. Kinzing took Knothe's place at forward at the start of the second half. Conaty was the leading scorer for the locals with four fields and one foul. Marrin and Husta followed their teammate with eight markers apiece.

Troy had Joe Evers and Norman in the forward berths, Malone at center and Driscoll and Case in the back court.

KANTROWITZ BIG FIVE BEAT WARRINGTONS

The Kantrowitz Big Five rode rough shod over the Warrington All-Stars Thursday night at armory, winning by a score of 34 to 14. Manager Artie Lawrence had his men working in fine shape and the Warringtons were outclassed from start to finish. Preston Knight starred in the point getting for the Kantrowitz Big Five, looping the ball for six fields. Roy Van Buren displayed some snappy floor work getting the ball in most scrammages. ## Yellow Jackets Beat Westchester In Great Struggle Mad. Rain and Westchester Gridder Fall To Sleep Winding Struggle of Local Gridder—Game Played in Mud Was the Best Staged This Season.

A heavy downpour, a field of mud and the Westchester eleven could not stop the Kingston Yellow Jackets from completing two seasons without tasting defeat. Thanksgiving was terrible from the weather side of the story but the other features of the day were beautiful. The fans who braved the storm to see the contest were well repaid as the contest was the best staged this season. The final score in favor of the Yellow Jackets, was 13 to 0.

Despite the fact that the players were covered with mud the game was exceptionally fast and there were not few fumbles. The Yellow Jacket backfield was working to perfection, giving wonderful protection to the ball carrier at all stages of the game. Of course the Yellow Jacket line held fast and Hasbrouck and Leverett did some good kicking. Colvin threw a pass in the last quarter and Harry Scheffel took it out of the air. Scheffel trotted near the goal but it took his running mate Leverett to bring it across. The Westchester squad also completed some nice plays, but they were unable to cross the goal line. Hackett, the big fullback, was still full of pep and he sneaked a play after play in his gentle manner. A pretty sight was the "dumpling" of Hackett in all his mud by the feet of Millican.

Manager Dwyer elated over the great victory staged a blow out for the Yellow Jackets in the evening. There were a number of very entertaining features on the program including songs by Rose, recitations by Scheffel, piano selections by Leverett and stunts by Millican. A good time was had by all present.

Kingston Scores.
In the first quarter Kingston broke into the scoring columns when Hasbrouck intercepted a Westchester forward pass on the forty yard line and raced to the five yard line before being downed. Stanley Colvin kicked the ball across for the touch-down. Hasbrouck failed to make the extra point. Kingston now was in the lead, 6 to 0.

Score In Fourth Period.
During the second and third periods there were no scores made. In the last quarter the Yellow Jackets added seven more points. After a long run by Hoffman, who again played a sweet game, and a number of plunges through the line, Colvin threw a forward pass to Scheffel, which he brought to the four yard line. The pass was the best completed this year by the locals. Leverett made the extra point with a place kick. Taking Hasbrouck's place in the second half, Leverett played a great game. His kicking was very good.

The McLanemen outplayed the Westchester club throughout the entire game, making nine first downs to their five. Only once in the game did the visitors look as if they were setting the pace and that was in the third quarter, when Westchester marched down the field for thirty yards. This drive continued in the fourth quarter until a forward pass went wrong.

The Yellow Jackets got a very bad break in the financial column. A big guarantee was paid the 23 New York players, who came here on a special Pullman car on the New York Central. There was but a hundred of the game. The special souvenir program was distributed.

STOP PLAYERS' LITERARY WORK

Public Bored by Flood of Stereotyped Stories.

It is understood in National league circles that the directors of that circuit will be asked to take action on the ever-growing tendency of manager and players to join the ranks of the so-called special writers.

Men vitally interested in the success of the sport are frank in pointing out the reaction already felt as the result of indiscretions of players and privates in "revealing baseball secrets, stirring up dissension and waving old skeletons while collecting the extra compensation for their literary efforts."

The league moguls realize that in some instances the errors of judgment have been unintentional, due mainly to the fact that the player or star probably didn't even see the copy which was produced under his name.

The big league moguls first awoke to the danger of the player-writer menace when one of the greatest figures of the American league burst forth in a tirade against Ben Johnson in one of his daily "articles." The matter was brought to a head when one or two playing stars of the participating teams in the world's series revealed some "inside dope" in their eagerness to supply material for their articles.

This action is contemplated as the public apparently has become a bit bored by the flood of such material. During the world's series the stereotyped views of the various games, the failure of the player-experts to add any meaty facts to the daily grist, and the sorry showing on the field of one or two of the player-scribes while laboring over the typewriter by proxy, brought the fad under discussion.

In one edition of one of the Pittsburgh papers, for instance, appeared the thrilling accounts of four or five scribes, and most of them began with the startling and unique announcement that "Well, we lost today's game, but the boys aren't downhearted."

The fad, of course, works a hardship on the four baseball stars who have developed skill as writers and produce their own copy. Their efforts are lost in the rush of "special writers."

It is believed that the National league, and perhaps the American league, will act to the extent of prohibiting participants in the world's series from permitting their names to appear over newspaper accounts of the games.

Had Nothing but His Glove and a Prayer

On August 1, 1924, Dazzy Vance had one of his frequent good days and incidentally fanned seven Chicago batters in a row, equaling George Witte's mark made back in 1906.

It was a futile effort on the part of the Cub batters, as they stepped to home plate and stepped back to the bench again. Once in a while one of them would manage to hit a foul, but the umpire always had the last call.

This fanning bee finally got on Manager Bill Killefer's nerves and, as the seventh one surrendered on strikes, he said dryly, "I suppose that guy out there has got nothing but his glove and a prayer." Much silence prevailed.

Ivory for McGraw

The photo shows Buck Jordan, just purchased by Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants, for $7,000. Jordan is a shortstop, and is one of the three young players picked up by McGraw on his ivory hunt through the South.

Murphy, Grand Circuit Driver, Out of Sport

Tommy Murphy, veteran Grand circuit racer and holder of several world's records on the trotting track, announces that he has definitely decided to withdraw from active participation in racing. His future plans, he said, are uncertain.

Classed as a logical successor to "Pop" Geers, dean of Grand circuit drivers, who fell a victim to his sport in an accident three years ago, Murphy decided that his decision to withdraw was influenced largely by the wishes of his family.

For 20 years he has been at the top of the Grand circuit race world, and over that period Murphy believes he has been the largest race money winner in the United States, with purses of over $2,000,000 to his credit.

The Luxurious Robe Intime Is Often of Metal Brocade and Sometimes in Pajama Types—Quilted Robes May Be Decorative as Well as Warm

New York.—The quilted and tufted robe has become a general favorite. It is no longer confined to the use of invalids and old ladies. While comfortable and utilitarian, it is also most decorative and may be had in all sorts of materials, including lame, and naturally including velvet, satin, crepes, and tulle. It may be quilted with metal thread, and may be of a novelty instead of plain silk, so that one can hardly accuse it of any lack of frivolity, a quality that women seem to demand of negligees. It follows that figured materials, particularly figured laines, should come to a good end in the boudoir, where, dressed up with feathers, it makes luxurious lounging robes and provides a change from the omnipresent velvet. Feathers appear to be preferable to furs just now for the robe intime.

There are simpler types, some of the newest fashioned on kimono lines and made of brocade or printed silk in flowered or modernistic design. Such robes are at their best when vivid in tone, and when unlined are a cheery touch to, as well as being compact in, the traveler's wardrobe.

More and more women elect to lounge about in pajamas. The coats of the more elaborate pajamas are knee length, and are often of velvet over plain or flowered silk. The draped girdle, worn low about the hips, repeats the material of the under garment.

Odd Cure for Deafness

Joe Durce of Des Moines, Iowa, completely deaf, dropped 9,000 feet and was partly cured, but his drooping was done in an airplane and it was a treatment prescribed by several doctors. Durce's hearing was destroyed ten years ago, when he contracted influenza while serving in the army. Doctors advised this remedy in the hope that his eardrums would be jolted into sudden activity by a sudden change of atmospheric pressure. Durce plans another swoop to improve his hearing further.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

For the small family fond of chop suey, a home-made variety will be found appetizing.

Chop Suey.—Cut celery into two-inch strips then shred not too thin; cut one onion into bits. Fry one pound of very thinly sliced round steak which has been cut into inch squares, in suet fat. When brown add a little water and simmer, adding more water until the meat has simmered an hour, then add the vegetables, salt, pepper, and one-half teaspoonful of sugar with two or three tablespoonfuls of fig sauce, which comes in small bottles costing about twenty cents. The amount of seasoning depends upon the taste; a spoonful or two of caramel (brown sugar and water) adds richness of color as well as flavor and makes the product more like the Chinese chop suey.

Junket Ice Cream.—To one quart of rich milk add one cupful of cream, beat until just lukewarm, add a dissolved tablet of junket and stir well, with one cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of vanilla; pour into a freezer and freeze. Serve with crushed fresh fruit well mixed with sugar or with a butterscotch sauce.

Maple Frozen Dish.—Heat a pint of cream, remove from the fire and add one-half cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla; stir and chill, then freeze. Cook one-half cupful of sugar with water to dissolve it, until it spins a thread, pour over the stiffly beaten white of an egg and beat until cold. When the cream is partly frozen, open the can, scrape down and turn the frosting. Repack and stir until frozen. Serve with a thick hot maple sauce, adding chopped nuts if desired.

Butterscotch Sauce.—Put a cupful of cream into a double boiler over hot water, add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of dark corn syrup, mix well and cook for an hour over the water. Add a dessert spoonful of butter and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Serve on cottage pudding.

GIRL VICTIM OF JEWEL THIEVES PLAYS DETECTIVE

Helps to Capture Men Who Tricked Her Out of Valuables.

New York.—After being chloroformed and after losing $10.00 in money and jewelry in a Martinique hotel room, Miss Cordie Harvey, twenty-five-year-old Charleston (W. Va.) society girl, has a new respect for the wickedness of strange young men in a great city.

In jail, after confessing to the robbery, two handsome city slickers, who Miss Harvey never dreamed were waiters, have a new respect for the resourcefulness of little out-of-town girls. Edward Kelley, twenty-two, and Paul Jeffries, twenty-three, had the slightest idea the polite little girl would go out with detectives and search for them.

How It All Began.

It all began when Miss Harvey asked a strange young man to direct her to the post office. Miss Harvey was wearing expensive jewelry and the young man spent several minutes describing methods of getting to the city hall post office from the Hotel Martinique. The girl had just come to New York for a vacation. A few days later the man identified as Jeffries accosted her in the hotel. "Don't you remember me?" he asked.

"No," Miss Harvey replied. "I'm the fellow that told you how to get to the post office," he said. She brushed by and went to her room. A few days later Miss Harvey was dining when Jeffries arose from a nearby table and invited her to go to a theater. She refused. Recently Miss Harvey was standing on the mezzanine of the Martinique when Jeffries entered and waved to her gayly. She ignored the salutation, but he joined her a moment later.

Finds No Woman in Room.

The police said Kelley, although unaccompanied by a woman, had hired a room at the hotel, registering as "Mr. and Mrs. Bentley." Jeffries described this Mrs. Bentley as a charming woman whose companionship Miss Harvey would find agreeable, and Miss Harvey went up to her room. There was no Mrs. Bentley in the room and Miss Harvey had scarcely reassured herself by the sight of women's garments on the bed before she was chloroformed and stripped of the following:

One platinum ring set with 18 small diamonds and four sapphires, value $1,125; one platinum ring, $250; one white gold ring set with chip diamonds, $100; one wrist watch, $50; one string of pearls, $50; cash, $20. Miss Harvey saw more of Broadway in company with detectives for several days than she ever had before. Then they saw Kelly. He was equipped with her watch and several pawn tickets. Later they got Jeffries.

Flies 30 Miles Hanging to Tail of Mail Plane

New Brunswick, N. J.—Hanging on the tail of an airplane 3,000 feet above ground held no terrors for Vincent Taylor, seventeen years old, of Hackensack, until a shooting star narrowly missed connections with the plane and himself, the youth said recently in describing his flight.

Taylor was an involuntary passenger on an air-mail plane piloted by L. Ponton D'Arce from Terboro airport to Hadley field, a distance of 30 miles. While attempting to help shove the plane into the wind as it was taking off he became entangled in the struts of the tail skid and was unable to free himself or to attract the attention of the pilot.

Calls Antique Shop "Spirit of St. Louis"

Paris.—Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis" has its memory perpetuated in an old antique shop along the river. The enterprising owner really has a claim to the name, for his shop for years has been called "L'Esprit de Saint Louis," an exact French translation of the transatlantic airplane's name. His store is on the Quai Bourbon, on the Ile St. Louis, an island in the river Seine, and he deals largely in period furniture of the various King Louis.

His sense of humor, however, caused him to label one part of his showroom "L'ecarne," probably because odds and ends are gathered together there.

Carries Whip Along as Protection From Snakes

Berlin, Wis.—Albert Ludwig, a farmer living two miles west of Berlin, is endeavoring to rid the Delaney farm, which he operates, of reptiles.

Some time ago while at work on the farm Mr. Ludwig encountered a poisonous copperhead which measured almost six feet. He killed it with a horse whip, snapping the reptile directly back of its head. He was aware that snakes were present on the property, but he didn't believe they could be that large.

Recently while working in the field, Mr. Ludwig plowed out 53 copperheads which measured between seven and ten inches long. He killed them with a stick. Investigating, he discovered that they had been in a pocket-like hole about four inches beneath the surface. A large number of snake eggs were also in the hollow.

"In all my experience with these snakes I've never been chased by any," Mr. Ludwig says. "They've risen up and stuck out their fangs when they heard or saw me near, but that didn't bother me. I always carry a whip or a stick for safety."

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Static, real or man made, was conspicuous by its absence Thursday both before and after dark. Reception was very strong most of the evening but dwindled in the late hours. There was much fading in the early evening by WJZ and WEAF. The song hit of the evening was "How Long Has This Been Going On," without the question being answered.

Wednesday afternoon the buzzer was on at 3:30 and there was more or less snarling during the entire evening. Reception was otherwise good and there was plenty of volume. WLWL, for a long time silent or submerged, was heard at a late hour on about 380 meters giving a very fine concert. KFI was also heard; faltering and very much bedeviled by snarls and static. Numerous Chicago stations were heard before 6 o'clock.

Wagner Case Going to Jury

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 22 (P)—The Supreme court today, Thomas F. Rogers, counsel for William Leroy Wagner, Canadian farmer, who is charged with the murder of two state troopers, declared that the prosecution had failed to prove a motive for the crime.

"Two young men," he said, "went to the home of William Wagner and lost their lives. Somebody shot them. They have accused this boy of crime. They could have accused any man there that afternoon and he would have been under the same handicap as this defendant.

Rogers asserted that Robert Roy, for whose murder Wagner is standing trial, refused to tell the youth the contents of a warrant he carried for Wagner's arrest. Trooper Arnold Rasmussen, who also was slain, did not go into the farmhouse where Wagner was, he said.

"A man won't shoot another man without a cause or a motive and he won't shoot two state troopers without two causes," Rogers said. "Where is the motive here? Search for a motive or a reason here and you will find none under the sun. The evidence shows you Rasmussen was shot first. Who shot him?"

After the summation by the prosecution and Justice Brown's charge, the case was expected to go to the jury late this afternoon.

Rondout Masons Guests of Ulster

Ulster Lodge Entertains Visiting Lodge: Who Confer Master Mason Degree—District Deputy Charles H. Gregory Pays His Official Visit.

Wednesday evening was a red letter night in the history of Ulster Lodge, No. 193, F. & A. M., of Saugerties, for it was the first time in the history of the lodge that a visiting lodge conferred the Master Mason degree in Ulster lodge rooms. The night was also marked by the official visit of District Deputy Charles H. Gregory of the Greene-Clatsop Masonic District, who paid his official visit to the lodge that evening. Worshipful Brother Gregory is a past master of Rondout Lodge.

The members of Rondout Lodge met at the rooms in the Masonic building, Broadway and Strand, at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening where automobiles were waiting to convey them to Saugerties where they were welcomed by Master Clarence S. Hallenbeck of Ulster Lodge and a large number of the members. There were also present a large delegation of Catskill Masons who had motored to Saugerties to enjoy the occasion.

The officers of Rondout Lodge and the degree team during the evening conferred the Master Mason degree on a class of candidates, and the work was heartily applauded. This degree is most impressive and the ritual work is especially beautiful. The degree team of Rondout Lodge has attained high proficiency in the work.

At the close of the degree District Deputy Charles H. Gregory was introduced and in a brief and concise manner conveyed to the brethren present the instructions of the grand master of the grand lodge of the state. He was heartily applauded at the close of his address.

Following the closing of the lodge the visitors and the members of Ulster Lodge adjourned to the banquet hall where a fine repast had been prepared by the stewards of Ulster Lodge.

Obstacles Help Latins Build Their Aviation

Washington—Development of commercial aviation in Latin America is being accelerated rather than retarded, says a report to the committee department from Leighton W. Rogers, agent assigned to investigate the subject, by the very obstacles which it encounters. Great distances between cities, rugged intervening mountains and lack of railroad communication, he finds, are actually encouraging the new industry. One of the world's first commercial aviation services to prove profitable was that established several years ago along the Magdalena river in Colombia.

Now, in addition, regular passenger and freight service is maintained between Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Montevideo, Uruguay. On the west coast Chile operates an air-mail service between Santiago and Valparaiso, and Bolivia has had a commercial system in operation for two years, while in Mexico a number of oil companies maintain their own lines and various projects are under way in the West Indies. Most of the airplanes used are made in the United States or Europe.

A Golden Bird Sang Joy

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

TESSA and Margot were cousins, born upon the same Christmas day. Both orphaned within the year, they had been brought up austere, by a stern grandmother. Yet they felt to the marrow of their bones, their unlike fates. Tessa's father, Emil Vane, born gambler, had shot himself after losing his own estate and his dead wife's dowry. Margot, his brother, daring a madder risk, had won a million, and lost his life in a railway wreck a month later. The million, carefully nursed, had made Margot a great heiress at one and twenty. She needed it, said some who were heartless, for she was sallow and sharp-tongued.

Tessa owned dancing feet, eyes to match them, dimples, curves, roses, and the voice of a lark. Grandfather Dore would have given the lark its chance—Grandmother raged at the mention of such a thing—Tessa must either marry or go to work. Since she scorned safe, genteel occupations such as teaching, she owed it to the family to take Senator Pogram.

Allen Reed, vagrant artist, had played at working desperately hard all through the summer just past. Autumn had lingered goldenly; winter was closing in severely. The old house was swept and garlanded in honor of the double birthday. Oddly, Grandmother Dore had clung to what her husband had ordained in honor of that day—open house till past midnight—folk coming and going, quaffing, laughing, eating heartily, now and again a rousing toast: "To the Ladies!"

Margot and Tessa peered tensely into the snowy turmoil without, pondering in tremulous silence if there would be even one visitor today. Drifts, strengthening cold, a savage gale said no, but the watchers knew better—for love or lucre men dared the elements. Imperiously Margot drew Tessa out of earshot, then said hushedly: "You need not marry Pogram as Granny decrees—if you will pay the price of—freedom."

"Which is?" Tessa shot back, pale to the lips.

"Your promise to go—far, far away—and never come back," Margot breathed, rather than spoke. "Go! Be great—and happy. You can be. You have the voice. With the world at your feet you will not repine."

"You mean you will pay—" Tessa began.

Margot interrupted. "All you choose to ask."

Tessa smiled almost compassionately, knowing well what lay behind the offer. After a sort she was humiliated—for Margot herself, but most of all for Allen. His love, all unspoken, was of a price beyond rubies—she could not bear to sell it by naming it in this sordid bargaining. Yet Margot's case was pitiable. Impulsively Tessa held out her hand, saying, "you mean to be kind—I wish I might say yes—it is impossible. Another way will open—I am sure of it. For you, likewise—let's forget what we have said—no matter who comes—nor what comes of the coming."

"Will you look?" Granny cried shrilly.

A procession struggling through the avenue! Sure enough—men, women, dogs, a magnificent horse, far in the rear a huge truck, creeping snail-like, drift to drift. All trailing after a slim, tall person who had something of a familiar semblance.

Margot cried tensely: "Allen!" Tessa's heart the while echoing the cry.

Allen had by good chance stumbled upon a sma, select musical troupe, reinforced by sundry rich amateurs, which had left the city after midnight, headed for a thrice-exclusive suburban colony, still thirty miles distant. Storm-stress had emboldened him to bring it to the warm comfort of Welwyn, whither he himself was bound.

Afterward, when all had been fed, warmed, comforted, the big parlors rang with music, with jests, and dancing beyond all experience—almost beyond belief. Stranger, it all moved Granny to something she later hardly dared to believe—a vaunting of her grandchild before these marvelous professionals, saying, with her head high: "Tessa, sing my favorite, 'The Last Rose of Summer.'"

The professionals stared, smothering a gasp all round. Tessa rose, trembling violently, but steadied as Allen sprang to stand behind her. A full minute she stood silent—then the golden bird sang as never before. It held the strangers spellbound a breath's space—then sent them into tumultuous encores.

Allen drew her quickly away to say in her ear, "I'm as glad for you as I'm sorry for myself. It has been such a comfort that you were not an heiress—this puts you even worlds further out of my reach."

"You are tiresome," said Tessa. "Our quarrels will make us famous. Two artistic temperaments, you know, cannot possibly keep the peace."

Yet somehow they managed it—managed also that Margot's heartache should be banished by the most distinguished of the amateurs, who was even richer than herself. Granny, beaming in old lace, and family jewels, gave the highest tone to the double wedding, and took to herself the credit, not only of making the matches, but of giving Tessa her chance.

Bear's Mutton Chase Ill-Fated, Mine Reveals

Saratoga, N. Y.—Workmen sent to pump water from the pit of an old mine of the Witherbee-Sherman company at Palmer Hall, near Ausable Forks, were amazed to find the body of a large bear that had fallen into the pit and drowned. Investigation disclosed that the bear had been chased by muttons. Tracks showed where the bear had come from woods into clearing and started after sheep. The latter knew about the mine pit, and as the muttons reached the edge of the deep hole, the bear, knowing nothing of the pit and running at top speed, blundered straight into it. Trapped by the sheer rocky walls, the bear had no chance and soon probably sank.

PLOTTER HIMSELF IS PLOT'S VICTIM

Thought Conspiracy Was to Collect Insurance.

New York.—Young Benjamin Goldstein, who was thrown into the water of Gravesend bay to drown, thought he was a conspirator, rather than a victim in a plot to collect $100,000 insurance on his life, the police asserted. When he set out from Coney Island in a rowboat with his two companions who confessed, said the police, to his murder, he thought he was taking part in a plot to circulate a report of his death while he went into hiding. He did not know the report would be true, detectives said they learned from members of the young man's family.

A middle-aged man—described by the police as the puppet-master who worked the wires in the tragedy of death in which three weak young men were actors—was grilled all day at police headquarters, but confessed nothing and, arraigned on a charge of murder, pleaded not guilty.

Harry Greenberg, seventeen, and Irving Rubinszhl, twenty-two, both of whom have ambitions as pugilists, told the police they were the hirelings of Joseph Lefkowitz, forty-two, the beneficiary of the insurance policies, when they left their companion to drown. But each insisted the other actually pushed Goldstein from the boat. Both were arraigned for murder and pleaded not guilty.

Lefkowitz, a broad-shouldered, muscular man with active dark eyes, was calm throughout hours of questioning.

Six Are Electrocutated by High Tension Wire

Timblin, Pa.—Six men were electrocuted near here when they came into contact with a high tension wire carrying 33,000 volts. The victims were men employed by the Penna Public Service corporation.

Five of the men were killed instantly, while one who attempted to rescue the others from the grip of the "hot" wire died later.

The men were strung a telephone line across a valley. Five of them were pulling the line when it came into contact with the high tension and they were knocked down. Raymond Smith, working on a pole nearby, went to their aid, but was so badly shocked himself that he died later.

The dead, in addition to Smith, all of Punxsutawney, Pa., were Warren Barnett, Raymond Curry, David Dimmire, Lloyd Shaffer and Blair Joyner.

The scene of the accident is a sparsely settled region. Two other linemen, Quay Grube and David McMillan, injured by the shock, were able to summon aid.

Cat Reverts to Wild, Rears Young in Tree

Camp Nelson, Calif.—Reverting to the primitive, a mother cat built a home in a hollow tree here 40 feet above the ground, and is rearing a family of four. The kittens, born in the lofty nest, never leave it, and the mother provides them with mice and birds for food. The kittens show signs of playfulness but are wary of strangers. The mother has become so wild and vicious it is considered dangerous to go near her.

Boy Uses Finger Nail to Start Stolen Auto

St. Louis.—Stealing 26 Ford automobiles by picking the ignition locks with a long finger nail is the extraordinary record of Francis Tatham, fourteen years old, who made this confession to the police when he was caught stealing a neighbor's motorcycle.

"It was no trick at all," he said, showing an inch-and-a-half nail on the little finger of his left hand.
